BY GUS MALBERT.

As a result of some several conferences, those young men who started out to win a pennant for Richmond and have now definitely concluded that it is really worth while to land in the second best place, came through with a victory yesterday. The one regrettable thing is that it had to be achieved over Lee Garvin and Buck O'Brien, both being members of the Portsmouth team. The score was 8 to 1. both being members of the Portsmouth team. The score was 8 to 1.

Dr. Yancey Wyatt Ayers, whose cyclonic performances in the Virterday he just pitched.

Making a paragraph where no para-O graph really ought to be, we would interpolate here that Doctor Ayers really didn't have to overexert himself yesterday. The friends he has made on the club made a lot of runs for him, and so there was no need for worry on his part. He pitched sort of nonchalantly, if that exprespermissible. Even at that he let the marauders put their bats back into the bat bag with only four hits to their credit, two of which were the infield and might have been handled as outs. Doctor Ayers finds no joy in selecting his opponents. He has made it a rule to look upon all alike. Manager Garvin is glad that Doctor Ayers is to fling only one of the three remaining conflicts.

Buck O'Brien, a very good pitcher worked for Portsmouth, the very work having been selected after considerable thought. O'Brien is a good pitch-er. But somehow or other both teams seemed to have the idea that as the season was fast approaching an end, it wasn't necessary to hustle too much. That's why O'Brien is credited with a defeat. He wasn't scored on in but two innings, but three came in the fifth and five in the eighth, which quite upset his plans, not that he is Former V. P. I. distance and sprints. Patterson has won a number of prizes in the international races. In the half-mile races he made a very creditable showing with the leading runners at home and abroad, and his time was one minute and fifty-nine seconds. This beat his Southern record by some bit of time. It is remembered that within the past two years Patterson has won in practically all the long distance events in which he has participated. In 1912 he won the mile and two mile in the S. I. A. A. meet in Baltimore in splendid time, and in the succeeding month of the same year broke the Southern record for the mile in an intercollegiate meet at Chapel Hill. More recently, in the spring of 1915, in the Georgetown indoor meet at Washington, he nosed victory from the Carlisle Indians in the two-mile relay broke even with the Dodgers in to-day's double bill, losing the first 6 to 2, and taking the second 2 to 1. Mar-quard had the first game won until the sixth inning, when the Brooklynites pulled off one of their typical batting pulled off one of their typical batting flurries, pushing over six runs.

New York, September 4 .- The Giants

Yingling opposed Tesreau in the second, and outpitched his opponent from start to finish. Failure of his teammates to bat at critical times cost them the game. In the third inning Meyers doubled, and scored on singles by Snodgrass and Doyle. An error pushed over another run. Brooklyn's single tally came in the fifth, when Smith caught one of Tesreau's shoots and lined it to the fence for the circuit.

AYERS TO GET BIG SEND-OFF

To-morrow will be known as "Ayers' Day" in Richmond. It will be the last time the local fans will have a chance to watch the big fellow, who has given such good service to the Colts, in action as a member of the local outfit. He leaves Sunday for his new home in Washington. There will be no set ceremonies, but members of the team and the management will give him some token to show how much they appreciate what he has done.

After the game is over there will be a little spread on the super-roof of the Richmond Hotel, when good-bys will be offered and hopes for the success of the big fellow expressed. Ayers will leave Richmond a prime favorite. He has worked hard and long. He has given the best he had in him at all stages. There has never been a shirk in his system. He is game clean through, and the men he has worked with and those who have watched him at work will unite in wishing him all manner of success in the big show-and they believe in him, too.

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

BY GUS MALBERT.

For once no explanation of a game of baseball is necessary. Richmond won because Richmond played better ball than Portsmouth. Ayers was in rare form, and O'Brien was hit when hits were needed.

Harry Sentz, who played right field, will be remembered by most local fans. He was here in 1908 as a member of the Winchester team, and played great baseball. The valley outfit beat us two games and lost two games, but Sentz made such a hit that he broke into professional ranks, and since that time has seen service in the Eastern, Southern and American Association leagues. He is fast and can hit, and will fill in greatly, now that Laval must play first base.

We have three Willies with us now, or rather will have this afternoon, and all three are pitchers. They are: Willie Klingenhoffer, who wants to be known as Kling, from Baltimore; Willie Smith, also from the Oriole City, and Willie Ray, from Winston-Salem. Smith hasn't arrived, but is expected this morning. Klingenhoffer and Smith are right-handers, and Ray is a portpaw.

Pitcher Sandford, from the Rome (Ga.) club of the South Atlantic League, is also expected to-day.

It will be either Klingenhoffer or Ray to-day against Brown, for and the fans should appreciate the effort being made.

Jack Dillon, now in the theatrical business, and manager of the troups Jack Dillon, now in the theatrical business, and manager of the troupe playing "Within the Law," at the Academy, is in town. Dillon was a member of the Jersey City club in the Eastern League in 1902, when that team won the pennant, and established a record of twenty-four straight victories. Steve Griffin was also a member of that team, and later played with Dillon on the Baltimore club. Dillon has given up the game, but just to keep in condition he donned a Portsmouth uniform yesterday, and was a guest of Lee Garvin

Doc Newton pulled a pretty play in the sixth inning yesterday when he threw out Whitecraft. It wasn't an easy chance by any means.

BROWNS DEFEAT WHITE SOX

St. Louis, Mo., September 4.—The Browns won an eleven-inning contest from the White Sox here to-day, 5 to 4, bunched hits in the final round scoring the winning run. Russell started for the visitors and remained eight innings He held the Browns hitless during that time, except in the sixth, when three hits netted four runs. Scott relieved him, allowing three safeties during the remainder of the game. Schwenk went all the way for the locals, allowing twice as many hits as the Browns made, but the visitors could not bunch them. Score:

Jim Kelly, the Petersburg youngster, who came here by way of Washington, was sent home yesterday. He just couldn't stay with the arrival of so much new material.

One thing is certain: The management has not quit. There is still hope of second place, and the influx of pitching talent, though a trifle late, may give Richmond a chance to land ahead of Roanoke at the finish. They are trying, and the fans should appreciate the effort being made. (Continued on Seventh Page.)
